PAUL HARRIS TO GO ON STAND IN HIS OWN DEFENSE MONDAY

Defendant Charged With Killing His Mother and Firing House Will Answer His Accusers.

END OF THE TRIAL IN SIGHT

Witnesses Relate Conversations of Mrs. Harris in Which She Complained of Heart Trouble.

ANSWERS ARE RESTRICTED

Evidence Introduced to Show Gas
Fluctuated Day of Fire—Court
Adjourned at Noon.

Paul Harris will be called to the witness stand Monday to answer the accusations that have been made against him in an indictment, returned by the grand jury, charging him with killing his mother and setting fire to the house. It is practically decided by the defendant's attorneys that he shall take the stand in his own defense some time Monday.

It is understood that the defense's case will be practically closed with the testimony of Paul Harris. It is said the defense wished to enter on another phase of the case, but the court has not yet decided to allow them to introduce any evidence on this subject.

It may be some time after the defense closes before the arguments are made before the jury, the jury is instructed by the court and the case given to them for a verdict. The State will likely have some rebuttal evidence as well as the defense.

Court adjourned today at noon until Monday morning so as to allow the out-of-town attorneys to return home to spend Sunday. The jury will be kept together over Sunday.

Fifteen witnesses testified this morning as to the good reputation of Paul Harris for peace and quietude in the community. Other evidence was introduced to show that the gas on the line to which the Harris home was connected, was very low about eleven o'clock the morning of the fire and came on very strong at noon.

Supports Defense Theory.

What is conceded to be some very strong evidence to support the theory of the defense that Mrs. Harris was overcome by fright when she discovered the fire, and died of heart failure or was suffocated and burned to death, was introduced this morning when the court allowed witnesses to testify as to Mrs. Harris' physical condition.

The attorneys argued several times yesterday over the question as to whether witnesses should be allowed to tell what Mrs. Harris had said to them about her condition. The court always ruled for the State, holding that the declarations of the dead or injured person were not admissible as evidence.

Today a different question arose. Witnesses were asked to relate what Mrs. Harris said to them of her affliction which was causing her trouble at the time she told them, and Judge Blair allowed them to answer. Many testified to seeing her when she suffered with heart trouble and talked about it.

A number of witnesses who were first at the scene of the fire were on the stand late yesterday and this morning. The defense is attempting to show that the house burned very quickly after the smoke was seen issuing from the roof.

Dr. Davis on Stand.

Dr. F. H. Davis, a veterinary, who has testified in the case before, was the first witness after the morning intermission. He testified that he heard the conversation between Dr. L. C. Kigin, has partner, and Paul Harris, concerning a calf of Paul's which had frozen feet. Dr. Kigin testified earlier in the day, and the witness practically confirmed the evidence of his partner. He was cross-examined very little.

D. C. Norris, who lives within a mile of Paul's home, testified he saw the calf in question at Paul's farm the latter part of February. He said the calf's feet and ears were frozen.

On cross-examination the State attempted to determine the time exactly. Mr. Norris said he did not know what became of the calf.

Marshall Blackledge who has testified before in this case, said he was very well acquainted with the Harris family, and had known them all their lives. Mr. and Mrs. Harris were at his home the Sunday before the fire, the witness said.

About Relations.

Mr. Blackledge said the relation between mother and son "was as nice as it could be." He told of the good feeling that existed in the family.

The witness said he had noticed Mrs. Harris when she was very short of breath, especially after walking upstairs. He said he had observed her put her hand to her breast near her heart. He said Mrs. Harris had never talked with him about trouble with her heart.

On cross-examination the witness said he did not observe Mrs. Harris being short of breath the Sunday before the fire she was at the Blackledge home. He said she then seemed to be in excellent spirits and was as healthy looking as he ever saw her.

Mrs. William Wallace of this city, testified that Mrs. Harris ate dinner with her at the Windsor hotel 8 days before the fire. When they had finished dinner the witness said, they walked upstairs. When they arrived at the top of the stairs, Mrs. Wallace testified, Mrs. Harris said:

"If I had to climb these steps much I don't believe I could."

Mrs. Wallace Confused.

On cross-examination Mrs. Wallace was asked if she had noticed anything peculiar about Mrs. Harris after they were upstairs for some time. She said she had not. Mrs. Wallace was questioned as to times previous to this, whether Mrs. Harris had ever complained of her heart. Mrs. Wallace wanted to tell of times Mrs. Harris did complain but she could not be made to understand that the incident described should be that when Mrs. Harris talked of her then existing condition. She was finally excused.

Mrs. Lev. Wallace, daughter-in-law of the witness preceding recalled the visit of Mrs. Harris to the Windsor hotel eight days before the fire and testified to the same thing as did her mother-in-law.

Mrs. Wallace was asked if Mrs. Harris had said anything about her health at that time aside from what had already been mentioned. The witness said Mrs. Harris said: "I just thought my old heart was going to refuse to act any more."

The State objected and in order to clear up the middle Mr. Watson of the defense asked the witness if Mrs. Harris referred to a time previous to the one when she was speaking.

Answer Stricken Out.

The State moved to strike out the answer in which she referred to fright she had had previous to the day she climbed the stairs. The State was sustained, after some argument, because it was a narrative of a past event.

William P. White, brother of Mrs. Harris, who has testified before, said he and the Harris family were closely associated frequently the last three years. He said all members of the family were very affectionate. He declared he had seen Paul and his mother kiss and embrace each other. He said this was common when Paul left home. He declared he never saw anything between Paul and his mother that was anything other than pleasant.

On cross-examination he said they were together last at his home two or three weeks before the fire. She came alone he said.

The State was asked if it intended to introduce any evidence in regard to Paul Harris' reputation for peace and quietude and replied that it did not. The court then announced he would allow the defense to introduce fifteen character witnesses.

Character Witnesses.

Marshall Blackledge, the first character witness, said Paul's reputation for peace and quietude was good.

Fred Lightfoot said he had known Paul Harris all his life and that his reputation was good.

T. A. Coleman, who said he had known Paul all his life, had the same answer.

Ben L. Smith, who said he had practiced law here since 1857 answered the same.

Rolla E. Zorne said he had known Paul Harris for 15 years and that Paul's reputation was good.

George C. Wyatt of this city, who said he had known Paul Harris since his boyhood days, answered the same.

Edward L. Hood of Washington township, declared the defendant's reputation was good.

Reputation Good.

Joseph L. Cowing of this city said to his knowledge Paul Harris' reputation for peace and quietude was good.

Boy E. Harrold testified as to the defendant's good reputation for peace and quietude.

Albert L. Winship of this city said Paul Harris' reputation was good.

Verne Norris, clerk of the circuit court, gave the same testimony as the other witnesses.

Lieutenant Governor Frank J. Hall was the last character witness called. "How old are you?" asked Mr. Spann of the defense.

"That's an unfair question," replied Mr. Hall. "but I guess I can answer it?"

"Single or married?" asked Mr. Spann briskly.

"We object," shouted Mr. Adams of the State, smiling and rising to his feet. "This is an outrage."

"Sustained," said the court appreciating the fun the attorneys had started.

Finally the lieutenant governor managed to say he was single and then answered the question for which he was called.

The court was adjourned at this time until Monday morning at eight-thirty o'clock by agreement of the attorneys on both sides, as the lawyers from out of the city wished to go home to spend Sunday.

Judge Blair admonished the jurors not to discuss the case with any one or among themselves. He urged them not to read any newspaper accounts of the trial. He added, however, that the newspaper men had handled the trial very fairly and impartially and had conducted themselves in an excellent manner, but that they may have heard the evidence a little differently than the jury, which was to decide the case as the jurors heard it. He said he had appointed extra bailiffs to attend to their wants over Sunday.

Witnessed Fire.

Ryce Bishop was the first witness placed on the stand by the defense when court opened this morning shortly after nine o'clock. He testified he arrived at the scene of the fire about 12:40 and stayed until after three.

He said the whole upstairs was burned when he got there and that it was impossible to enter the house. He said he met Frank Redman, the mail man, near his house.

On cross-examination he stated he looked at the clock just before leaving home. He said the last wall fell

TRACTION MEN GO OVER ROUTE

Charles L. Henry and Engineer Moore
Pay Visit to Clarksburg and Batesville.

NATIVES ALL TAKE NOTICE

Survey Not Ordered and May Not be—Is Mr. Henry's Second Trip.

The visit of Charles L. Henry, president of the Indianapolis and Cincinnati Traction company and Chief Engineer Moore, in Clarksburg yesterday set the little town agog and excitement could not have been much greater if it had been a traction car going through the village.

The two men went from here to Clarksburg looking over the proposed route as the people of Clarksburg would have it. From Clarksburg, accompanied by a party of business men they went to Oldenburg and then to Harrison, Ohio. The trip was made in automobiles. The party of business men from Clarksburg included Jacob Emmert, George A. Wirt, M. E. Newhouse, C. B. Emmert, and H. W. Davis.

This is the second trip that President C. L. Henry has made to Clarksburg. The first was a secret one and was made because of a communication he saw in the Daily Republican. Some months ago a Clarksburg man wrote the Daily Republican and pointed out the advantages of the Clarksburg route. His letter was printed and was seen by Mr. Henry. Wishing to give all a fair show Mr. Henry quietly went down to Clarksburg and looked things over. He was evidently impressed by the letter and it was the first time this particular route had been brought to his attention.

This time a different route was taken than before. The other time Mr. Henry went over the route suggested by Mr. Wirt in a letter to the Republican. Mr. Wirt's route was through New Salem, and Clarksburg, and thence directly south to Newpoint, east of Greensburg, where it could connect with the proposed route from Greensburg now being considered. Mr. Wirt's argument was that the line could then be built the short distance from Greensburg to Newpoint and thus cars on both divisions could go through to Cincinnati.

The route followed yesterday was through New Salem and Clarksburg, and then in a southeasterly direction to Oldenburg. From there they went to Batesville which is on the route now proposed from Greensburg. Mr. Henry was very favorably impressed with the route traveled yesterday. He said the country between Clarksburg and Oldenburg was level, and there are no streams to cross except Salt creek. The country from Oldenburg to Batesville is very good, Mr. Henry says. The party was entertained at the Oldenburg schools very pleasantly.

About a week ago a party of Clarksburg men visited Mr. Henry at the general offices of the company here in an effort to persuade the officials to order a survey of this route. Nothing definite was done and as yet no appropriation has been made for the survey. The trip yesterday is supposed to determine whether or not a survey will be ordered. If the survey is granted it is understood the people of Clarksburg will organize and a committee will be appointed to look after the right-of-way.

Clarksburg is a small thriving town situated seven miles away from the closest railroad station. It is listed in the census as containing 650 inhabitants but the real population is about one-half that number. It is made up mostly of farmers and farm laborers and with just enough professional and business men to lend variety. It has, at various times, tried to get either a railroad or a traction line through it, but has always been unsuccessful.

The land around this little town, situated 15 miles south of here in Decatur county is very fertile and sells at a good figure. If a traction company should lay its rails through this town the surrounding country would become the most wealthy section of Decatur county.

ATTEND FUNERAL OF WILBUR WRIGHT

Mrs. O. P. Dillon and Russell Kirkpatrick Present at Services in Dayton, Ohio.

FATHER BORN IN THIS COUNTY

Mrs. O. P. Dillon and Russell Kirkpatrick of this city attended the funeral of their noted relative, Wilbur Wright, in Dayton, Ohio, this afternoon. Mrs. Dillon's father, Thomas Wright, was a cousin of the two famous brothers who were premiers in the field of aviators. Rush county also has some claim on Wilbur Wright, as his father, Bishop Wright, who is a leading clergyman in the United Brethren church, was born and reared in this county. The deceased aviator was born in Henry county, near Millville, just east of Newcastle.

The whole of Dayton, and many visitors, paid tribute to the dead inventor this afternoon. In accordance with a proclamation of Mayor Phillips, Dayton's industries suspended operations during the hours of the funeral. The services were held at the Wright home. Floral tributes from all parts of the world have been received.

HARRIS JURY IS DIVIDED AS TO ITS SUNDAY AMUSEMENT

All Agreed on Ball Game For Afternoon But Disagree Over Morning Pastime.

SOME WANT PLUNGE IN RIVER

If the jurors which are hearing the Harris case has as difficult a time agreeing on a verdict when the case is finally sent to them, as they have in agreeing on how they shall spend Sunday, it is likely that the jury will be out for some time.

The jury is a divided lot as to just how it will amuse itself and spend the time over the Sabbath. The twelve jurymen are agreed on only one form of amusement. They are all very anxious to go to the ball game between Rushville and the Indianapolis Dan Roys tomorrow afternoon. And the bailiff intends to treat the jury to a Sunday ball game because the court said he would al-

NO CONTESTS FILED IN SIXTH

Delegates to National Convention Will Have no Trouble According to Secretary Hayward.

MESSAGE TO THIS EFFECT

Mistake was Possible Due to a Clerk in the Chicago Office of the Committee.

The delegates and alternates from the Sixth district to the Republican national convention at Chicago this month have been notified that no contests have been filed by the Taft men of the district to unseat the delegates who were elected to support Theodore Roosevelt.

B. R. Inman, editor of the Middletown News, passed through Rushville yesterday on his way to Morris-town to attend the spring meeting of the Indiana Associated Weeklies. While here he stated that he had received reliable information to the effect that no contests had been filed against the delegates.

The story that such action had been taken was first published in the Indianapolis Star and has never been retracted. The Star says this morning that contests have been filed against the Roosevelt delegates in the ninth district.

The article in the Star caused the two delegates from this district to inquire whether or not their seats in the convention were in jeopardy.

Possibly the mistake of a clerk in the Chicago office of William Hayward, secretary of the Republican National Committee, was the primary cause of a sensational political story that was given wide publicity all throughout Indianapolis through the Indianapolis Star.

And the Star had a good basis for the story as letters signed by Secretary Hayward were received by T. C. Bryson, of Fayette county, national delegate, informing him that action to contest his seat as a delegate had been taken. A similar letter was received by Enos Porter, the other national delegate from the Sixth district, who lives at Shelbyville.

Mr. Bryson said at the time he received the letter that there evidently was a mistake made as his title to his seat was too well established to low it. It is the pastime for tomorrow morning that has divided the jury. There are a number of religious men among the twelve who wish to attend the morning worship at some church as is their usual custom. There are others who do not care to go to church.

There is a good majority which wished to get back to nature where most of the jurymen are much of the time, as they are all farmers except one. They want the bailiff to take them out along the river where they can lie down in the inviting shade of a tree and perhaps take a plunge in the water.

Judge Blair consented to the jury being divided and appointed some extra bailiffs so their every want would be attended to Sunday. Those who wish to go to church will be taken, and those who wish to get in touch with the world from which they have been estranged for more than a week, will be allowed to do so.

Sudden Death of Terre Haute Man
Subject of Investigation.

Terre Haute, Ind., June 1.—Pending an investigation of the death of Wil-liam L. Smith, who was found dead in rooms occupied by Mrs. Hattie L. Pritchard, the woman is being held by the police. Conflicting stories have been told by the woman, according to the police. Smith was connected with a local department store and was past grand sachem of the Red Men of Illi-nois. He was thirty-five years old. A widow, son and two daughters survive. A physician says Smith died of heart disease and that death might have come at any place and at any time.

This Complainant Says He Mistook an "0" for a "9."

Muncie, Ind., June 1.—Because he thought an "0" was a "9" he is out just $900, according to the statement made by Cassius C. Beall, against his former business partner, Thomas Beall. It is set out that the two were partners in the clothing business and that Cassius sold his interest in the store to Thom-as, but that in figuring up the accounts an "0" looked so much like a "9" that the plaintiff was deceived and now seeks to recover his loss.

SUBSTITUTE HAY CROPS

By J. C. BEAVERS, Department of Soils and Crops, Purdue University Experiment Station
Purdue University Agricultural Extension

Soy Bean Cover Crop After Wheat. 93 Tons Green Weight of Crop Per Acre.

From all indications the farmers of Indiana and other central western states are now facing one of the short-est hay crops known for years. This condition makes the growing of an-nual forage crops a necessity in or-der to supply farm stock with plenty of home grown hay. A great many crops may be grown to supply this un-usual need, but none may be used to better advantage than cowpeas and soy beans.

These crops like alfalfa and clover belong to the legume family and when supplied with their respective root-nodule forming bacteria, are able to secure their nitrogen from the inex-haustible supply in the air. The great value of soy beans and cowpea hay is due to the fact that both crops have a high per cent. of digestible protein. The hay from these crops is equally as valuable, pound for pound, as clover hay and nearly as good as alfalfa hay and wheat bran.

These crops may be planted any time from May 15 to July 10, in cen-tral Indiana. As a rule, however, they do best when planted shortly after the main corn planting time. When planted for hay, more seed should be used to the acre than when planting for seed. For hay production from two to three pecks of seed should be used to each acre when planting in rows from 28 to 40 inches apart, and from one to one and one-half bushels when drilling broadcast. The rate of seeding is the same for each crop.

For row planting, either the corn planter or grain drill may be used. When the corn planter is used, a bean or pea plate should be secured. The grain drill can be used for row plant-ing by stopping three or four drill holes and using the fourth or fifth. The usual practice is to plant them about the same depth or a little deeper than corn on land that has been well prepared.

Anti-Hog-Cholera Serum

By R. A. CRAIG, Veterinary Department, Purdue Experiment Station, Purdue University Agricultural Extension

Anti-hog cholera serum has been produced by the Purdue experiment station for the past three years, and thousands of hogs have been vaccinat-ed and treated. The most of this work has been done in sections of the state where the disease is prevalent year after year. The results have been very satisfactory. The percentage of loss in the sick herds treated with the serum has been far less than in the neighboring herds that did not receive treatment, and the immunity conferred by the serum-simultaneous method of vaccination has been permanent.

The use of serums lacking in pro-protective properties, "fake" serums and vaccines and "specifics" has discour-aged the use of a reliable serum in some sections of the state. It may be stated in regard to the extent that the above preparations have been used that the large majority of the exposed and cholera hogs have been treated and vaccinated with them and not with reliable serums.

Disastrous results have followed careless methods of treatment and vaccination. There is no method of vaccination practiced for the protec-tion of farm animals against disease in which it is so necessary to use careful methods as in vaccinating hogs against hog cholera. It is best to take the hogs off feed for about 12 hours before handling them. If the pen is clean and well bedded with straw and sprinkled with a disinfectant, the dan-ger from filth getting into the wound produced by the hypodermic needle and causing blood poisoning is lessened. The serum and virulent blood may be injected into the muscles of the inner thigh region or the side of the neck. It is not advisable to inject a large quantity of serum into the tissues at any one point. The injec-tions should be scattered over the re-gion, if the dose is large. A separate hypodermic syringe should be used for the blood, and this should be in-jected into a different region than the serum. The quantity of blood and serum given varies according to the size of the hog. The larger the animal, the greater the dose. In estimat-ing the dose, it is well to consider the physical condition of the animal, and if its natural resistance against infec-tion is lowered by improper methods of care, etc., the size of the dose should be increased. It is usually best to not give virulent blood if the body temperature is 104 degrees or higher. Serum alone should be given, and in two or three weeks the hog may be vaccinated in the usual way. If the abnormal body temperature is due to infection with the germ of hog chol-era, a curative dose of serum should be given. This should be from one-half to twice the vaccination dose.

It is not advisable to vaccinate pigs weighing less than 50 pounds, as they may outgrow the immunity conferred by the vaccination in a few months. If the mother is vaccinated, or infec-tion present in the pens, the pigs should be given a protective dose and later vaccinated by the serum-simul-taneous method.

A protective dose of serum protects the hog against infection for a period of from four to six weeks. Loss of im-munity following vaccination by the serum-simultaneous method (exposing the hog to hog cholera by giving it virulent blood and at the same time protecting it with serum) is due to careless methods and the use of blood lacking in virulence.

For a few days following vaccina-tion of treatment do not allow the hogs to run in muddy yards and sleep in dirty pens and hog houses. Turn them into a grass lot or blue grass pasture, or give them clean pens that are well bedded and disinfected. If abscesses and fibrous tumors form at the point where the serum was in-jected, the abscesses should be open-ed and cleaned, and the tumors, if large removed.

Richmond's Forester, Who Gives His Services For Nothing, Urges Use of Lead Paint.

"TOPPING" IS PREVENTED

Trees Are Not Molested by Linemen Who Are Compelled to Raise Wires.

The trimming of trees which plays a very important part in the work of beautifying towns and cities and country places as well, is receiving special attention in Richmond this year as a result of the watchfulness of Professor John F. Thompson, member of the high school faculty, who is serving Richmond as city forester without salary.

ester without salary. The off-hand butchery of shade trees at any season of the year is responsible, Professor Thompson points out, for the killing of many beautiful trees. In one of the series of "lessons" on the care of trees, Professor Thompson says: "The best time to trim trees is from midsummer until late in the fall, or after their period of annual growth. Most deciduous trees have attained this growth both in height and diameter in July. Early in March also is a good time for this work, but in April or May when sap is flowing freely the fresh wounds "bleed" so much that it is impossible to paint them for protection. Whenever a fresh wound is made on a tree at this particular time of year, it should be covered with an antiseptic to keep out fungus growth. "These fresh wet wounds are admirable places for disease germs to lodge. In some cities tar is used to coat these fresh wounds, but lead paint is as effective and much easier to apply. There are two things at the very least a trimmer of trees should know and the first is how a limb should be cut off and second, what limb should be removed. To cut the top off a tree is not trimming it. The best place to cut the top off a tree is close to the ground. A tree should be improved, if trimmed, not destroyed. Large limbs more than two inches in diameter should be removed with a saw and three cuts should be made. The first on the under side of the limb about eight inches from the point of origin. This cut should be about one-third of the way through the limb. The second cut should be made on the upper side of the limb about four inches from the point of origin.

"Before the second cut is finished the limb, by its own weight, comes off with a clean snap and there will remain a short stump which should then be sawed off close to the tree. A larger wound is made by cutting close but it will heal more quickly and will not leave an unsightly lump.

"It is all wrong to cut a limb off by sawing from the upper side only, because before the cut is finished the limb falls and strips away bark from the tree, making an unnecessary wound. Never cut a limb so that a stump is left, for there will be nothing to feed it and sooner or later it will die, leaving a decayed spot."

Professor Thompson is advocating the removal of many trees from the streets of Richmond, where they have been placed too close for healthful growth. All trimming in the city is now under his general supervision and wholesale destruction of fine shade trees as a result of pruning by telephone and telegraph linemen has been stopped. Formerly when a tree top interfered with telegraph or telephone wires, the trees were "topped" by linemen. Now they are compelled to raise the wires and trees are not molested.

DIXON MISSTATES FACTS, SAYS NEW

Contention Over Tickets Now at Explosive Stage.

Chicago, June 1.—In the controversy growing out of the refusal of a demand of the national Roosevelt committee for 250 tickets for the Republican national convention, Roosevelt and Taft champions were dangerously near the passing of the lie. Captain Harry S. New, chairman of the committee on convention arrangements, busied himself preparing an official reply to a 500-word telegram Senator Dixon, the Roosevelt manager, made public in which the senator made a personal attack upon Captain New. He charged the latter with being "narrow and factional" in the ticket controversy.

"Senator Dixon deliberately misstates the facts in his published telegram," said Captain New. "Senator Dixon did not make a personal request for tickets for Colonel Roosevelt or any members of the Roosevelt family, as he would have it appear in his statement. His request was for 250 seats for the national Roosevelt committee, and no one knows it better than Senator Dixon, and his telegram proves it."

Captain New said there was no personal slight intended for Colonel Roosevelt in his refusal to set a precedent and allot tickets to the campaign committee of a candidate for the convention. Senator Dixon has made the ticket episode an issue of the campaign and declared in his long message to Captain New that he intends to appeal the controversy to the individual members of the national committee.

FIRST DISTRICT RATS DOOMED

One Day Set Apart for Their Extermination.

STRICKLAND CRUSADE GROWING

Heretofore the Annual "Rat Killing Day" Has Been Observed Only in Gibson County, but This Year the Promoter of the Cause Has Succeeded in Interesting the Whole First District in the General Slaughter.

Princeton, Ind., June 1.—On Tuesday, June 11, the rats of the First Indiana congressional district had better all hunt their holes and stick close, for a decree has been issued by J. R. Strickland of Owensville, this county, for the annual rat killing contest. This is the third annual "killing," but heretofore the extermination of rodents has been confined chiefly to Gibson county. This year, however, the day will be observed in Gibson, Vanderburg, Pike, Posey, Spencer and Warrick counties, comprising the First district, and hearty co-operation is assured Mr. Strickland by the citizens.

Strickland, who is one of the best informed men in the country on the rat and the great damage wrought by this pest, first tried to "get" the rat by law, and failing in this he decided to go after it "by common consent." Several years ago a bill was drafted by him and introduced in the Indiana legislature, providing a bounty of a half a cent each for rat tails, to be paid by the township, but the bill failed to get through. Strickland then hit on a "rat killing day" as a means of going after the pests, at least in his own county, and many farmers and townspeople fell in with the idea and hundreds of the rodents were killed.

Last year about 3,000 were killed on the appointed day, which was during the first week in June. Government statistics estimate that each rat in the country eats or destroys 2 cents' worth daily, a total of $7.20 a year for each rat. Thus by one day's work alone rats were killed in this one county that in a year's time would have exacted the enormous toll of $21,900, to say nothing of the young ones that were prevented from coming on. It is believed that thousands of rats will be killed in the First district June 11.

Political "Freedom."

In an address before the denominational gathering in Minneapolis Mr. Bryan remarked that he was glad to be out of the list of candidates, and went on to say: "I am content to spend the remainder of my years in private life. A man is more free when he is not a candidate." Mr. Bryan continued that, when a candidate, he found his coat tails constantly pulled, for fear he might do something that would injure the party. In conclusion he repeated that "I am now free." There is much about this position that is not clear. Mr. Bryan recently toured Ohio to advise Democrats not to vote for Gov. Harmon as a presidential candidate. At Baltimore Mr. Bryan will be practically the foremost delegate and orator. That gathering, from every State and territory, will represent a party. How far will Mr. Bryan feel justified in asserting the personal freedom he now celebrates?

In his first battle Mr. Bryan was the nominee of three parties in fusion. He has been more of a party man than the average. No candidate ever worked harder in organizing action and trying to unify it for himself. Nevertheless, he has virtually belied if Harmon or Underwood should be the nominee. A party is properly an aggregation of voters who work together to promote certain political principles. It makes a platform subject to majority approval, and offers it for general support. Mr. Bryan has singled out two persons who he says would be unacceptable to him, no matter what the platform may be. He declares that he is free, and may enter other objections. By this plan the individual exalts himself above the party. There is so much of the exaggerated ego abroad in the land that Mr. Bryan has chosen the poor time to add to it.

Ormsby McHarg, the lawyer who is now raising a loud outcry against what he alleges to be a possibility of unfair treatment for contesting delegations at the Chicago convention, four years ago was the attorney of those who were steam rolling the opponents of the nation administration says the Marion Chronicle. There were two hundred and eight contests at the Chicago convention of four years ago and under Mr. McHarg's leadership there were just two hundred and eight decisions in favor of the administration delegates. Mr. McHarg is one of the politicians who is in no position to complain about what the republican national committee may do at Chicago. Four years ago he argued that the evidence did not count in contest cases,—that it was only a matter of who had the national committee. That argument is as vicious today as it was then,—but the engineers of the steam roller of 1908,—the original invention,—are estopped from complaining about it now.—indeed it is hypocritical in the extreme for them to do so. The republican party is suffering today from the steam roller brand of politics and disease will not be cured by the rehabilitation of its inventors.

This is the time when New Jersey can hurl back with fine scorn the old claim that she is not of the United States.

Uncle Sam is so patient as a great and good friend that he sailed away twice from Cuba after quieting the island for self-government. But in some things three strikes mean out.

Senator LaFollette says his campaign has been handicapped. Does

Sam Sanderson Says:

The better the June bride's trousseau, the worse her corned beef hash, he mean handicapped or handhatted?

When it comes to the point the present Democratic House, like others of the kind, is afraid to pass a free trade bill for any important item.

Fly Carriers.

It is now that the campaign against the fly must be started. With an adequate and intelligent effort we can do much to keep down their numbers and to reduce the danger from the transmission of disease germs to an appreciable extent.

People should know the fundamental information concerning the fly and the dangers resulting from its life and habits. An authority who has made the pesky thing a study declares that the house fly is a mere nuisance, but a positive enemy of life and health.

Flies are the badge of dirt and filth—present on your premises or your neighbor's premises.

It is not sufficient to greatly reduce the number or to exterminate them.

If we clean up all the unsanitary places and keep them clean, we will have no flies.

The average number of bacteria which one fly may carry is estimated at 1,250,000.

Flies are looked upon in general as simply an annoyance. The clearly housewife endeavors to keep them out of the dwelling but the men folks frequently fail to sympathize in the effort, and leave the doors and screens open.

It has been learned now that the presence of the fly is not simply an annoyance but a real menace to the home, because he brings infection from a distance. This fact has long been suspected, but has recently been proved.

It has been noticed by Doctor Hayward, bacteriologist, and other observers, that the flies flocked in numbers about the cuspidors of those suffering from pulmonary tuberculosis. A fly speck is a trivial thing apparently, but careful examination proved that the "specks" from these flies were full of tubercular bacilli. As a consequence of their presence, the bacilli of this horrid disease were scattered everywhere.

Flies imprisoned and fed on tubercular sputum dies in two or three days after the infectious material was introduced. Other flies likewise confined and fed on milk live from eight to ten days. The "specks" or feces of these flies were rubbed up with sterile water and injected into guinea pigs, and the pigs developed cases of consumption.

Editorialettes.

Word from New York is that it looked like a Sunday in Rushville on Decoration day. Evidently this is no mean place at that.

With half the jury going to church and the other half swimmin' we can't decide just where we'll spend the day.

But anyway, we will put off our weather prediction until Monday.

Nine in This City Will Give Support to Rush County Convention
June 7.

THE ATTENDANCE COMPARED

The coming Rush county Sunday school convention which meets here June 7 will have the united support of the schools in Rushville. The city has nine schools. There will be a graphic illustration of enrollment, average attendance, number of teachers, etc., given at the coming convention. It will be interesting to see how the schools compare. The names of the schools, superintendents and the enrollment last June are given here:

Main Street Christian—Rev. J. M. Yocum, 325; First Presbyterian, J. T. Arbuckle, 250; St. Paul M. E., James Lock, 225; United Presbyterian, W. H. Cherry, 150; First Baptist, J. W. Gartin, 60; Ninth Street Baptist, C. L. Bates, 55; Second Baptist, Ida May Miller, 20; Second M. E., Cora M. Smith, 39; Mission, Captain Cook, 75.

THE DIFFERENCE.

The difference between a cyclone and a tornado is thus explained by an authority: A cyclone is a general storm area or area of low barometer, which may cover several states or half of the United States with wind blowing around the center, opposite to the hands of a clock, and for any locality is considered a straight wind. A tornado is a local storm or violent whirlwind within a cyclone area and is generally destructive. A cyclone may continue for several days, while a tornado lasts only a short time and usually occurs in the afternoon or evening.

SOLDIER UNIFORM.

The heavy blue uniforms worn by the T. H. I. & E. motormen are to be tabooed and the men will wear brown suits made in the khaki style, with brown caps to match. The suits will consist of trousers and coat, with military collar bearing the insignia of the road. A brown shirt will also be worn, and when the weather is too hot for the coat, the motormen will be allowed to go in their shirt sleeves. The uniforms will be light and made of a wash material so they can be kept clean and always have a neat appearance. This rule will not apply to the conductors, as they will wear their regulation blue suits.

There are twenty-three tracts to be sold under the hammer. Mayor Shank of Indianapolis, who said at the Rushville horse show last fall that he intended to move here when he got through running Indianapolis, and Fred Capp will be auctioneers.

FALLS FROM PORCH ROOF

George Martz Breaks Two Bones in Left Leg.

George Martz, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Martz, residing near Lewisville, fell from the roof of the farm residence and broke both bones of his left leg just above the ankle. The young man was helping to repair the roof of the residence and stepped in the tin gutter. It gave way under his weight and he dropped about twenty feet to the ground. He landed feet foremost and the bones snapped in two. The family physician was called and reduced the fracture. Young Martz is doing as well as could be expected, but the injury is of such a character as to cause him great pain.

RECITAL BY MISS HOGSETT

Local Young Woman Pleased Large Audience in Indianapolis.

A piano and vocal recital given by Miss Martha Marr Hogsett at the Metropolitan School of Music last night pleased an audience composed largely of visitors from Rushville, the home of Miss Hogsett, says the Indianapolis Star. She has been a pupil of Flora M. Hunter and Edward Nell for several years and shows marked ability. The principal numbers on the program were "Pastorale Varie" (Mozart) "Sayonara," composed of four flowery Japanese songs, to which she played her own accompaniments; three vocal selections from Brahms, Offenbach and Chadwick, and "Five Scenes From an Imaginary Ballet" (Coleridge-Taylor). The latter and the group of Japanese airs are said to be new to Indianapolis.

GERM LADEN DUST CAUSES CATARRH

Ely's Cream Balm Kills the Deadly Catarrh Germs.

Catarrh, which is bad enough in itself, often results in loss of taste, smell and hearing, and leads to serious throat and lung troubles if not promptly checked. The seat of catarrh is usually in the back of the nose, and its natural course is downward, into the throat and thence to the lungs.

Don't take any chances. If you have any symptoms of catarrh—stuffed up feeling in the head, rusty discharge from the nose, sore throat, or dry, hacking cough, get a fifty-cent bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist, and begin the treatment at once.

This remedy is not a "burning out" or "drying up" process. It is simply a cleansing, healing, antiseptic Balm, taken through the nostrils back into the head and throat where it instantly reaches the seat of the trouble. That's the only way to effectually and permanently cure catarrh.

Catarrh makes you offensive to yourself and friends. Start using Ely's Cream Balm today, and in a short time you will be permanently cured of this nasty, disgusting disease. Hargrove & Mullin, special agents.

NAMES OF OTHERS GET INTO RECORD

Not the Least of These Is That of Job Harriman.

Los Angeles, June 1.—During the trial of Clarence Darrow on a charge of bribery thrills came fast to the crowd which packed Judge Hutton's courtroom. Not the least of these followed testimony by Bert H. Franklin, the state's personal witness, that Job Harriman carried to Darrow's office $1,000 which Darrow a moment later gave the witness (Franklin) to be used in fixing jurors. Harriman was the Socialist candidate for mayor of Los Angeles recently.

Other names not heretofore mentioned in connection with the case were brought into it before Franklin concluded his direct testimony.

Will Talk It Over

Former Game Warden Sweeney Will Meet Attorney General.

Columbus, Ind., June 1.—The Rev. Z. T. Sweeney, former state fish and game commissioner, has returned here from New York, where he has been acting as pastor of a Christian church. Mrs. Sweeney has been abroad and he accompanied her home. The Rev. Mr. Sweeney said, with reference to the fact that more than $7,000 charged against him as fish and game commissioner by the state board of accounts had been turned over to the attorney general, that he simply regarded this carrying out the routine form in such matters. He said he would have a conference with Attorney General Leman while he is in the state, and until the matter is definitely settled he preferred to make no further statement. Mr. Sweeney will return to New York next week and resume his church work, remaining in New York until July 1. He will then go to his summer home in Canada.

Commanding American Fleet Keeping Watch Over Cuba.

THE TIME HAS COME TO EMPLOY MARINES

Landing Force Ready to Put Foot On Cuban Soil.

Washington, June 1.—The landing of the first American force on Cuban soil since the last intervention is expected to occur at any hour, with 100 marines on board the gunboat Paducah in the harbor at Daiquiri.

The Paducah left Guantanamo to carry marines to Daiquiri on receipt of the report of the destruction by the negro rebels of property of the Spanish-American Iron company, an American owned corporation at that place. Commander Mitchell, in command of the Paducah, has authority to land his marines, if he deems it necessary or advisable to insure the protection of American property. Though it is known that the Paducah has arrived at Daiquiri, the navy department has no report that Commander Mitchell has landed any force.

Officials of both the state and war departments are unable to find anything encouraging in any aspect of the Cuban situation. It was learned that the negro leaders are giving receipts for property confiscated by them, the receipts being signed in the name of Estonez, who with Ivolet, is the head of the uprising. This procedure is taken to indicate that Estonez contemplates completely to overthrow the Gomez government and assume control himself.

In the opinion of officials here, the entire situation, especially as regards the course of the United States, depends upon the aggressiveness of the negroes. The Gomez government is regarded as incompetent to deal with the situation should the negroes become more active.

There will be no consideration of intervention, however, unless conditions become vastly worse than at present.

Suicide of Former Legislator.

Brazil, Ind., June 1.—The body of W. H. Guhl, former member of the state legislature, was found hanging to a tree in an orchard near Clay City. Mr. Guhl disappeared after leaving a note saying he would never be seen again alive. Searching parties found his body. Loss of property, grief over the death of his wife, which occurred two years ago, and loss of health are given as cause for the act.

CAN NOT IGNORE OROZCO'S THREAT

Our Government Seeking Some Direct Information.

REBELS ON DANGEROUS GROUND

Declarations on the Part of Orozco's Men That Our Enforcement of the Neutrality Laws Would Be Followed by Reprisals on Americans in Chihuahua Leads to Demand on Washington's Part For an Explanation.

Washington, June 1.—An explanation of the threats emanating from revolutionist sources that the insurgents would wreak personal vengeance on Americans in north Mexico because of the attitude of the United States government regarding the shipment of arms across the border, is to be demanded of General Orozco, the rebel leader, through United States Consul Letcher at Chihuahua, Mexico, who has received instructions to that effect.

Mr. Letcher was instructed to remind General Orozco that such threats which have been circulated under General Orozco's name are extremely dangerous and cannot be ignored by the United States. The rebel leader will be emphatically told that talk of reprisals against the life and property of Americans is out of keeping with all civilized observances.

Papers in Juarez have printed protests of General Orozco against the refusal of the United States to permit the shipment of arms and ammunition across the Mexican border. In this protest is the threat that possibly the resentment of the revolutionists may be so great as to make attacks on American life and property likely. The result of the publication of these statements has already been apparent in an increase of anti-American feeling. It is known that the revolutionists are feeling keenly the effect of the shutting off of their supply of the munitions of war.

Reports received here say that conditions in the states of Guerrero, Morelos, Oaxaca and the isthmus of Tehuantepec are extremely bad. Desultory fighting has occurred between federals and the rebels near Lomar, not far from Torreon. The fighting thus far has been without definite result.

Two Battles

Details, However, Are Lacking of Cuban Engagements.

Havana, June 1.—The most exaggerated accounts appear in the newspapers of the battle between the rebels and the government troops near Santiago. The government has no details of any engagement beyond a report from General Mendiola, which states that a rebel prisoner states that the negroes lost a hundred or more. Inasmuch as the federals did not occupy the field after the battle, but withdrew for breakfast, the report of a great victory is not plausible.

The war office has a report of another fight in the same neighborhood, but it professes ignorance as to the result.

Taft May Have One Delegate.

Hackensack, N. J., June 1.—That there is a possible chance that one lone delegate in New Jersey was elected in favor of President Taft at Tuesday's primary became known when unofficial returns showed that Dwight W. Morrow of Englewood had run ahead in a number of districts. It will probably be several days more before the exact vote on the delegates is known.

Unearthing Old Roman City.

London, June 1.—The work of excavation of the Roman city of Uricorum, which lies buried on a site of some 170 acres six miles south of Shrewsbury, under the shadow of Wrekin, a noted hill in Shropshire, is about to begin. It will be very important and will extend over several summers.

The Iceberg Patrol.

Washington, June 1.—The scout cruiser Chester will leave Philadelphia tomorrow to relieve the cruiser Birmingham, now patrolling the navigation routes of the north Atlantic to keep navigators informed of the whereabouts of the ice packs and bergs.

Eight-Hour Bill Gets Through.

Washington, June 1.—The senate has passed the eight-hour bill. The Republicans voted against the measure, but the progressive Republicans joined with the Democrats and carried it through.

Care of Flock at Lambing Time

By H. E. ALLEN, Purdue University School of Agriculture,
Purdue University Agricultural Extension

A Pregnant Ewe in Strong, Vigorous Condition.
Ample preparations for the lambing season should be made before the lambs begin to come. This is the most critical period in flock management and the thoughtful shepherd will not allow it to come upon him unprepared.

The Lambing Pens.
The ewe barn must be dry, comfortable and amply ventilated. It should be provided with lambing pens or arrangements made whereby lambing pens consisting of hurdles may be quickly and conveniently supplied. The shepherd should provide himself with some small panels or hurdles made of light wood 36 inches high and 48 inches long. Two of these should be hinged together so that they may be closed together and laid away and readily set up when needed. A panel of woven wire fence 3 feet high and 16 feet long will serve the purpose advantageously. With these, small pens may be quickly made in the corner or along the sides of the ewe barn. The observant shepherd can usually foretell the birth of a lamb, and it is wise to place the ewe by herself in one of these pens before the event occurs in order to prevent other members of the flock from disturbing the ewe and to give her and her lamb a chance to become acquainted. If this precaution is taken ewes are less liable to disown their lambs. Then, too, it adds materially to the convenience in case the ewe or lamb may need special attention.

Assistance in Lambing.
If the pregnant ewe has been rightly treated there will be small chance of the ewe losing her lamb she should be required to mother a lamb of another ewe that has twins or is unable to supply her lamb with enough milk. Many ewes can be induced to adopt a lamb if time and patience is exercised. Remove the skin from her own dead lamb and place it on the lamb to be adopted by her. Since she knows her lamb by the odor and not by sight this method will be effective in many cases. The old skin may be removed in a day or two.

Adopted Lambs.
If a ewe loses her lamb she should be required to mother a lamb of another ewe that has twins or is unable to supply her lamb with enough milk. Many ewes can be induced to adopt a lamb if time and patience is exercised. Remove the skin from her own dead lamb and place it on the lamb to be adopted by her. Since she knows her lamb by the odor and not by sight this method will be effective in many cases. The old skin may be removed in a day or two.

Originating New Varieties of Wheat

By C. O. CROMER
Purdue University Agricultural Extension

By mixing a white and yellow ear of corn together and planting this mixture the breeder will obtain in each ear the product of a mixture of both the white and yellow ears. This is because the corn plant is an open fertilized plant. With wheat it is quite a different proposition. A pint each of Rudy and Michigan Amber wheat when mixed together and sown will produce just so much Rudy and an equal amount of Michigan Amber wheat. There will never be a new variety produced containing the blood of the two parent varieties except by accident.

How, then, is a new variety of wheat to be created? The reproductive parts of the wheat plant being encased by differentiated parts called glumes, makes it necessary to transfer by hand the pollen from one variety to the pistil of the other variety to be used as the female of the proposed cross.

The operation is as follows: The operator selects the heads he desires to cross-fertilize. He then removes with small scissors the two top and bottom spikelets and the middle florets of the remaining spikelets, leaving only the strongest and best developed flowers on which to operate. By the use of a small pair of tweezers the pollen sacs are removed from the florets, care being taken to emasculate before any of the anthers have liberated any pollen. This head is tagged and when the pistils are sufficiently developed pollen from the other variety is dusted on the pistil.

of the florets. The wheat head is then wrapped in tissue paper and allowed to ripen. The mature grain is planted and for at least three years the principle of selection is rigidly applied to each year's progeny in search for the type in which is found the largest number of desirable characters and the least number of undesirable qualities of the two parent varieties. This desired type is then multiplied and comes to be known as a new variety.

Feeding Sheep.
The animal husbandry department started a third sheep feeding experiment December 11. One hundred and forty Idaho lambs, sired by Hampshire bucks, are being used for this test. The lambs were bred by Wood Brothers, who have made a reputation for themselves in producing high-class lambs. This experiment is being conducted along the same line as the two previous trials, the object being to demonstrate the difference in feeding value between leguminous and non-leguminous roughage and the effect of adding a nitrogenous concentrate to each of the two classes of roughage. In addition to this phase of the experiment, a study will be made of the effect of corn silage with and without cottonseed meal to a ration of corn and clover hay. A test is also being made as to the most profitable amount of silage to be used in fattening lambs. The completion of this work will give three experiments which will be published in bulletin form as early as possible.

Orchard Heating.
The bulletin on "Orchard Heating," prepared by C. G. Woodbury and J. W. Wellington, of the Purdue Experiment station staff, will prove a valuable publication to the orchardists of Indiana. The experimental work was done in Mr. J. M. Zion's 50-acre orchard at Clark's Hill, Ind. The tests showed the efficiency of the various makes of orchard heaters, of oil and coal as fuel, and the practicability of smudging in Indiana. Accurate records were taken of three separate tests and they prove conclusively that smudging pays in the well-kept orchard.

The members of the Apple Knockers' club are planning to give a fruit show at the time of the farmers' short course at Purdue. This will be one of the many worthy efforts of the club, which is a very recent organization but exceedingly active.

HOW ROOSEVELT CAME TO GET IT

Mrs. Bellamy Storer Adds a Chapter to History.

A WOMAN'S PART IN POLITICS

Reviving the Long Smoldering Feud Between Himself and the Colonel, "My Dear Maria" Contributes a Bit of Further Interesting Information as to How Roosevelt Landed in the McKinley Administration.

New York, June 1.—In the current number of Harper's Weekly Mrs. Bellamy Storer, wife of the Ohio diplomat who lost his job as ambassador to Austria-Hungary in 1906, when President Roosevelt decided that the Storer had been too active in seeking a red hat for Archbishop Ireland, tells the story of how Theodore Roosevelt got his appointment of assistant secretary of the navy from President McKinley.

Mrs. Storer, who was the "Dear Maria" of the correspondence that sharpened the controversy following her husband's dismissal, and who, with Mr. Storer, was on such terms of friendship with Colonel Roosevelt that she addressed him as "Dear Theodore," recalls in her article a number of episodes in which the colonel figured, and none of her reminiscences are flattering. She dwells on Colonel Roosevelt's immaturity, heedlessness and recklessness and on the distrust felt for him by President McKinley. According to Mrs. Storer, the colonel learned all his politics from the late Thomas B. Reed, who spoke of him as "my boy."

After eulogizing President McKinley and describing his patience and sweetness of temper under adversity and trials, Mrs. Storer tells why she went to Canton, O., on one occasion to see the president. She writes: "This visit to Canton was the result of a conversation in July, 1896, at Oyster Bay, just after Mr. McKinley's nomination at the St. Louis convention. We had gone to Sagamore for a few days to see our very dear friends, the Roosevelts."

MAKES PIMPLES GO

Remarkable How Zemo Clears the Face of Pimples and All Other Blemishes.

With the finger tips apply a little Zemo to the skin, then see the pimples and blackheads vanish. Zemo is a liquid not a smear, leaves no trace, just simply sings in and does the work. You will be astonished to find how quickly eczema, rash, dandruff, itch, liver spots, salt rheum, and all other skin diseases are cured.

Zemo is put up by the E. W. Rose Medicine Co., St. Louis Mo., and is regularly sold by all druggists at $1 for the large bottles, but you can get a liberal size trial bottle for only 25 cents. Absolute and distinct advantages over other implements are what count and the following are to be found in the Oliver Cultivator.

The work is done perfectly, because of the parallel gangs, always held a uniform distance apart, always maintaining full depth and never shirking when going through hard ground.

This good work is done with the greatest ease by the operator, because of the power lift for the gangs, provided by draft of team, and the pivotal sea bar guide which shifts the gangs, besides pivoting the pole to guide the machine. The Oliver is absolutely the easiest to guide of any cultivator invented.

It is easy on the team, because of perfect draft lines—therefore no neck weight or neck draft. Light to draw, because of short frame, and otherwise novel construction.

Automatic Balance Frame. The movement of one lever assisted by the team raises and lowers both gangs, and at the same time balances the frame. For narrow rows, the wheels can be set 32 inches between the tires and still give ample room for guiding where planting is done badly out of check.

As a hard ground cultivator it has no equal. There are no springs or high hitch to draw the shovels out of the ground, which are, therefore, always hungry for their work.

It is a profitable cultivator for the farmer, as it does not wear out easily, never breaks, saves time and manual labor, and does faster and better work than is possible with any other.

HARRIS TO GO ON STAND IN OWN DEFENSE MONDAY

in just about three-quarters of an hour after he got there.

George Murphy, who lived in the Gings neighborhood at the time of the fire, about a mile from Ashland farm, testified the Harris home was connected to the Gings gas line. He said the gas at his house got very weak about eleven o'clock and remained so until about twelve o'clock when he had to turn the gas down to keep the stoves from getting too hot.

Witness Assailed.

On cross-examination he was asked if he were not the same George Murphy who was in this court for perpetrating a fraud. He admitted he was, and that there was a judgment against him in this court.

Mr. Murphy said he had a reason for looking at the clock about twelve but the State did not ask what it was. The State asked him why he could not remember the time to a minute if he looked at the clock. Mr. Murphy said he had no reason to remember the exact time because he did not know of the fire at the time.

Rolla E. Zorne, who had testified before, said on direct examination that his gas was so low while he was eating dinner that he had to turn out the fire and the lights. He said the gas came on strong about twelve o'clock.

Mrs. Aletha Murphy of Gings, wife of Otto Murphy, said their gas went almost out about eleven o'clock while she "was doing up her dinner work." She stated the gas came on so strong a few moments after twelve that the gas blew out of the stove.

Gas Out About Eleven.

She declared on cross-examination she was giving her best judgment in regard to time and that she had no reason to look at the time. It was brought out that she had eaten dinner, washed her dishes and resumed work before the gas went out.

The defense on re-cross-examination, developed the fact that they had dinner earlier than usual that day because her husband went duck hunting. She estimated the dinner time at 10:45.

Herman Miller, who lived near Ashland farm until September 1, 1910, was the next witness. He said he was a good friend of the Harris family, that the family relations were very good and that Paul and his mother were especially congenial.

The witness was asked if he knew Oscar Calhoun, the farm laborer at the Harris farm. He was asked if Mrs. Harris had ever expressed any fear of Calhoun in conversation with him. The State objected as it did to subsequent questions in regard to the same matter, on the theory that the declarations of the decedent were not admissible. The defense argued it wished to show why Paul had purchased a revolver for his mother to protect herself, but was overruled.

Mrs. Harris' Heart Bad.

The State allowed Mr. Miller to testify as to Mrs. Harris' condition, as she related it to him. He was allowed to tell of times only when Mrs. Harris talked of her then present condition.

He testified she had told him she had had trouble in getting her breath. Mr. Miller stated he had noticed this condition of Mrs. Harris and that she often panted while walking upstairs.

On cross-examination the State developed that Mr. Miller had never seen Mrs. Harris fall down or faint away.

Alva Eakins, who has been on the stand twice before, and who is president of the Gings Gas company to which the Harris home was connected, testified that if the valve on a gas regulator worked badly the patron would be apt to have less gas. He said he had had no complaints about the regulator at the Harris home.

Mr. Eakins admitted he had given advice about the regulator, but the State objected to the witness telling the advice he gave and was sustained. He said Mrs. Harris had called him by telephone about the flow of gas. He said he had never fixed the regulator.

Gas Regulators Freeze.

On cross-examination the State brought out that cold weather makes the gas regulators freeze and stick, and stop the flow of gas, according to witness. The witness said freezing would not increase the flow of gas.

Dr. L. C. Kigin, veterinary surgeon, started to testify concerning a conversation in January between Paul Harris and himself in which he told Paul to buy cyanide of potassium to kill a calf which had frozen feet, when the State objected and was overruled. He detailed the conversation, saying that he first advised Paul to knock the calf in the head with an ax, but that Paul said he could not do such a thing.

Kigin Cross-Examined.

The State brought out on cross-examination that the witness' headquarters was Davis Brothers' barn as well as those of Willard Amos, L. B. Harris and the two owners of the barn.

Mr. Adams asked the witness if "you fellows" had not combined to clear Paul Harris and the defense promptly objected. Dr. Kigin said that the case had been discussed at the livery barn a number of times. He said he did not remember exactly whom he told of the circumstance, but that he had mentioned it to a number of people.

Read Negro's Testimony.

After the intermission yesterday afternoon the defense read the testimony of Philos Cuthbertson, the colored farm hand, given before the jury.

Verne Brooks, one of the first to discover the fire was the next witness. Mr. Brooks testified to seeing smoke coming from the house as he was passing by. He said he drove in the barn lot and yelled for help. When no one came he said he drove back to get James Alexander.

Mr. Brooks judged that it must have been about 12:15 when he discovered the fire. He and Alexander went into the house and according to his testimony started to go upstairs and when within three or four steps of the top were forced down by the smoke. Mr. Brooks stated that the house down stairs was in good order and he saw no blood on the stairway or in any part of the house.

On cross examination Verne Brooks said he never noticed whether the door in the southeast upstairs room was open or shut. It was brought out that he never looked for any blood on the floor as he never had reason to believe any was there. Brooks said the first real blaze he saw was coming through the ceiling in the southeast downstairs room.

James Alexander, the nearest neighbor to Larry Harris, on the east, was the next witness. Mr. Alexander and Brooks were the first to reach the scene of the fire. The fire as he first noticed it was on the southeast side about 10 feet from the chimney, he said.

The stove in the sitting room, according to Alexander, was "red hot." The gas in the kitchen stove was low, according to the witness. The witness said he got up within four steps of the top building landing and he saw something near Mrs. Harris' room that looked like a bucket but could not tell whether or not the door was open.

Gas All On.

Mr. Alexander stated that the gas in the front room was all on but was not in the cook stove. He said he did not believe Mr. Brooks even went up the stairs and made the statement stronger, saying that Brooks did not even start to go up the stairs. Alexander did not pass him on the way down, he said. He would not say for sure that it was a bucket he saw upstairs.

Will McManus stated he left home about eleven o'clock on the morning of the fire, going duck hunting. He stated he passed the Harris home at 11:20 and saw no signs of a fire. At 12:50 he noticed the fire from the home of Bert Eakins. His story was not changed on cross-examination.

Otto Murphy, was recalled to the stand. In company with two other men he passed the Harris home on March 12 about 11:15, going duck hunting. He stated he saw no fire at the time they passed the Harris home. On cross-examination he stated he just glanced at the Harris home and was not looking for smoke.

George Heirs, another of the hunting party, stated they passed the Harris home about 11:20 and noticed no fire.

Ora Kiser of near Gings stated he was at the Harris fire after twelve o'clock. There was no fire only smoke when he got there. Mr. Kiser said he only got in as far as the kitchen. The witness stated that ten minutes after he arrived the roof fell in and that in his opinion the fire was a fast one.

Saw No Smoke.

John Keaton, the third of the party of hunters, testified that it was 11:15 when they passed the Harris home. While on the way to the river he said shooting was heard back on the Alexander place. He said he did his shooting about 11:25 and refused to get confused when it was pointed out that Murphy had said the first shot was fired at 12:30.

Donald Kiser stated he arrived at the fire sometime between twelve and one o'clock and only the top of the house was smoking. He said he carried the piano stool and helped get the rug out. He said the rug was taken up hurriedly and he never noticed any blood.

Mrs. Ora Kiser testified it was between 12:30 and 1 o'clock when she reached the fire. Mrs. Kiser said the smoke was coming out around the large chimney in the center of the house. She saw the rug but paid no particular attention. On cross-examination she admitted that her clock was fast.
